A Word About Fruit Canning

The best information we get is that the big fruit canning concerns have had inquiry for fruits amounting to more than TWENTY times their capacity. And this BEFORE any price was made, so they could charge any price they chose. They are putting up all the fruit they can get, even at present prices for fresh fruit, and are working overtime trying to fill some part of their export orders.

In the light of this it will PAY YOU to put up the fruit you will need this year.

If you need FRUIT JARS, we have them—good ones, too. Also LIDS, CAPS, and a fine line of RUBBERS. None of these things have advanced in price in proportion to other merchandise.

Phone your order and have it delivered.

No charge for delivery of $1.00 or more.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

D. W. Griffith presents "THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE," LILLIAN GISH and ROBERT HARRON are in it, and the great creator of "The Birth of a Nation" and "The Great Love," with his magic has woven around them a motion picture story that takes its place among the photoplay masterpieces that will last forever. Harold Lloyd comedy.

School Trustees Accept Bids for New Building

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Covina grammar school district this week, bids were opened and contracts awarded for the work of constructing new school buildings and furnishing equipment.

The general contract for the buildings was awarded to Wapshaw brothers of Pasadena for $103,763.14. Other bids received were as follows: John Blee, $178,000; L. A. Construction Company, $122,500; John Langdon, $132,890; J. E. Atkinson, $138,000; B. D. Kronich, $155,900.

The other contracts awarded on bids were as follows: plumbing, J. Hoken, $6547; roofing to Passmore Company, $5250; electric wiring to Winder & Jones of Covina, $4216. The bids for painting, the lowest being $5500, and the bids for heating, the lowest being $3300, were rejected. All bids accepted were signed up yesterday.

The acceptance of these bids releases $20,000 from the bond issue with which to build the Lark Ellen grammar school. Bids for this project will be called for this coming week. Both projects are supervised by John C. Austin as architect, and will be constructed as rapidly as is advisable.

Sam Allison Home From Long Service

Sam C. Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Allison of Puente street, is home again this week, after two years of military service, of which eighteen months was spent in France.

Sam comes home feeling better than ever, and ready for civilian life, he says. He was a member of the military provost for some months, and afterwards a motorcycle dispatch rider. He had one serious accident, when he rode into a shell-hole on a dark night while carrying dispatches to the rear. He was so badly hurt that he spent several weeks in the hospital.

Sam was attached to General Pershing's headquarters company, known as "Pershing's Own." He was with General Pershing at the time of the peace conference, and was with the general on many of the special functions that came after the signing of the armistice.

When it came time to send the general headquarters company home, General Pershing ordered that a special boat be chartered, and the officers and men enjoyed a very happy return across the big pond.

POMONA MAN WILL DISCUSS HOME-BUILDING IN COVINA

W. D. Frederick of Pomona, president of a building and loan association of that city, has been secured by the Covina chamber of commerce to deliver a talk before the members on this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock at the rooms of the city trustees on Citrus avenue.

The oft-repeated statement that there are not enough houses to accommodate the demand in Covina will be the principal subject of discussion, and Mr. Frederick, whose company has been financing home building on the cooperative plan, will tell just how it is done. Any person interested is asked to be present.

TRUCK IN COLLISION WITH LOS ANGELES STREET CAR

Bert Mills of Orange street, who operates a truck with which he carries fruit to Los Angeles from Covina orchards, was in a collision this week with a Stephenson avenue car in Los Angeles. The truck was quite badly damaged.

Although the Covina man was not injured, his father, who is a visitor here from Portland, who was riding with his son, was very badly hurt. He suffered a fracture of a knee-cap, and the ligament in one of his legs was badly torn. He is at the White Memorial hospital. The accident happened on Tuesday night.

BARBER IN SMASH-UP.

Legrand Wilson, a barber who has been employed with W. B. Davis since last January, had the misfortune to get into a smash-up when returning from Venice last Tuesday night. The Ford machine of Wilson's was badly smashed. None of the occupants of either car was injured seriously. The driver of the car that struck Wilson's car assumed the responsibility for the accident, and will pay for the costs of repairing the Covina man's machine.

Mr. E. Mills of Portland, Oregon, is visiting his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mills of Orange street.

Citrus Association Votes $160,000 Bond Issue

Stockholders of the Covina Citrus Association, in session on Tuesday of this week, voted to authorize the issuance of $160,000 in bonds for the improvement of packing facilities for the members.

The resolution adopted was passed by 1804 1/2 shares in favor of the bond issue and 15 shares against it. As the issue was obliged to have a two-thirds vote in favor of authorization, it was necessary to have 1761 shares in favor of it, thus passing the authorization by a margin of 102 shares.

Of the bond issue, $70,000 will immediately be utilized in the erection of a packing house on the property just east of where the present building stands. The old building has been obsolete for some years, as compared with modern citrus packing construction in Southern California.

The building has already been planned by Architects Shepherd & Hann of Pasadena. This concern has recently built many of the modern packing plants. In the original plan it was intended to build a pre-cooling plant, in order that fruit would be cooled and iced at the local packing plant, but the plans for the pre-cooling plant will be held in abeyance for the present, owing to questions hanging fire concerning the price of icing by railroad companies. Work on the new plant will begin immediately.

The ladies of the Baptist church served lunch for the members in the basement of the packing plant. The meeting occupied the whole day from 10 to 4 o'clock.

MIDDAGH IN NEW YORK AFTER LONG SERVICE

Mark (Blivora) Middagh, son of Mrs. E. A. Middagh, has landed in the United States, after a service extending from January 21, 1918. He was at Camp Perry, New York, a few days ago, and probably will be out of service by the time he is heard from again.

Middagh was employed by the San Gabriel Valley Milling Company as a truck-driver when he enlisted, and it was in this capacity that he went into the service. He went to Europe with the twenty-third engineers in the truck corps. He has seen a great deal of hot service on the roads between the depots of provisions and the front line.

It is expected that Middagh will arrive in Covina as soon as he is discharged and can make the trip across the country.

YOUNG BOY INJURED BY AIR RIFLE SHOT

Archer Clapper, young son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Clapper of 120 College street, is in the White Memorial hospital in Los Angeles, where an attempt is being made to save the sight of one of his eyes, as the result of a shooting episode in the hills near Covina.

The boy and his younger brother were in the hills last Saturday, and claim that they met a group of boys, among whom was Francis Layman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Layman of West Badillo street. It is alleged by the Clapper boy that young Layman injured him with a shot from a B-B rifle. The Layman boy claims that the discharge of the gun which injured the Clapper boy was an accident.

COVINA ROAD DISTRICT TO INCLUDE BALDWIN PARK

Henry Holmes, local road overseer for the county, has received word from the department that the size of the territory has been enlarged to include the Baldwin Park district.

The new boundaries are as follows: Bounded on the east by Sunflower avenue, thence south to Puente hills, thence east along San Francisco avenue to San Gabriel river, thence northeast to Walnut street to Baldwin Park, east to Irwindale avenue, south to Cienega and east to Sunflower.

The old road district contained 82 miles of road and the present one 125 miles.

LOCKJAW CAUSES DEATH OF NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY

The death occurred Wednesday at the county hospital of Louis Hardwick, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hardwick, who make their home on the J. C. Pearson ranch on Merced avenue. Death was due to lockjaw caused by lack of proper medical attention after the child had stepped on a rusty nail. Funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlors in El Monte this afternoon.

Lieutenant Reed is Back From Service

First Lieutenant Wallace A. Reed, who is a physician and surgeon, arrived home last night, after having been in military service since June, 1918.

Lieutenant Reed left Covina on August 24 of last year. He went to the Presidio, where he was attached to the twelfth regular infantry, but was transferred to Los Angeles for a military surgeon's special course in X-ray. He went into service at Fort Riley, Kansas, and was sent from that point to Camp Lewis, Washington. He was sent to Camp Harrison, Indiana, and from that point went overseas with troops.

Lieutenant Reed reached France just one day before the armistice was signed. He saw a great deal of active service in the hospitals in France during the winter and spring, especially during the months when there was a high percentage of sickness. All during his service he was employed as an X-ray specialist.

Before going into service, Lieutenant Reed was a member of the firm of Reed, Jennings & Reed, physicians and surgeons in Covina. He returns to his practice here with his father, Dr. J. D. Reed, and Dr. G. D. Jennings.

PARK RESTAURANT SOLD TO WALTER E. STURTEVANT

Walter E. Sturtevant is the new owner of the Park restaurant on East Badillo street, the sale of this business having been made this week by Arthur Sperring, who has owned and operated it for several years.

Mr. Sturtevant has been a hotel and restaurant man for a number of years. He is a high class cook, and has been looking around for a good location to go into business. He said this week that he is going to make a specialty of Sunday dinners. He is installing family tables, as well as operating the long lunch counter.

Mr. Sperring said that Mr. Sturtevant in the valley, will remain with Mr. Sturtevant for a few weeks, awaiting his passports to visit his former home in England.

PHILLIP LEIGHTON IS BACK FROM SERVICE

On a train that was 27 hours late in arriving from the east, Phillip Leighton, older son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Leighton, reached Covina yesterday noon, after having been discharged from military service. He came on from a port of embarkation, after having been held on this side since the armistice. He was in line of duty to go over when the great conflict ended.

Leighton enlisted a year ago, and went east to join a motor transport corps. He received a thorough training in the handling of army trucks and the work on the line of communication.

At his home yesterday he said that he was glad to get back to the good old San Gabriel valley again. He will attend Pomona college this year, finishing out his course which was interrupted by his enlistment.

GRASS FIRE THREATENS DESTRUCTION OF CHURCH

The fire department responded Tuesday morning to an alarm sent in on account of a grass fire which threatened the destruction of the Presbyterian church. The back steps and rear wall of the church, which are of lumber, were scorched.

Rev. Geo. Chamberlen Resigns Pastorate

After 28 years of continuous service for the people of his congregation, Rev. George F. Chamberlen resigned his pastorate of the Covina Brethren church last Sunday. The pastor made the announcement from the pulpit, and it came as a complete surprise.

Reverend Chamberlen is still in the prime of life, and will still continue to be active in church affairs. He gave as his reason for resigning that he had served long enough, and that he would best serve the interests of the church by taking up work on a wider basis. He intends to be a part of the church work of his faith throughout Southern California. He said that he intended to travel more than in past years.

Reverend Chamberlen has been a rancher in the valley since the first plantings were made here. He was a "dry farmer" in the early days, afterwards becoming a grower of walnuts and oranges. His home place is on Vincent street.

There is probably no finer example of Christian duty faithfully performed to be found throughout Southern California than this life-work of the Rev. Chamberlen. The ministry of the Brethren church is not remunerated on the salary plan. Devotion to duty is largely self-imposed. Rev. Chamberlen's work is very highly appreciated by the people of his congregation, and he is valued as a citizen by everyone irrespective of denominations. It is to be hoped that he will continue to take the intelligent interest in civic affairs that he has in the past, including the school interests. He is considered one of the most valuable citizens of the valley.

TWO NEW TRUSTEES FOR CITY LIBRARY BOARD

Daniel F. Stafford, postmaster of Covina, and E. H. McLean of Badillo street, were elected to the Covina library board at a meeting this week. The two new appointees will take the positions held by W. P. Watts and J. L. Matthews, whose terms expired this week. The other board members previously appointed are Dr. C. F. Fingler, John H. Coolman and H. M. Brubaker.

Mr. Watts and Mr. Matthews have served on this board continuously since the organization of a board seventeen years ago. During that period the library has been housed in a modern building, the gift of Andrew Carnegie, and has become one of the model libraries of small cities in the San Gabriel valley.

COVINA TRANSFER MAN RETURNS FROM FRANCE

Charles Poole, who has been in the service for two years with the transport division in France, arrived home on Wednesday. He will assume his old position with the Covina Transfer Company, his job having been held for him by Gerhart & Jackson.

Poole has little to say as yet about his varied experiences, but he was in the thick of the operations on the line of communication, and put in some of the hardest and most dangerous work of his life. Like most of the boys who were in it, he isn't saying much as yet, except that he is glad to get back to Southern California and get to work in civil life again. While in France he met Miss Edwards, whose activities in Y. M. C. A. work are known over a wide area.

MR. MAN!

Is your family to the beach, or to the mountains, or just plain visiting? If so, why bother getting supper after a hard day's work, when you can get a good home cooked meal at the PARK RESTAURANT, 132 E. Badillo St., Covina, served neatly and quickly.

My salads and pastry can't be beat, but for real eats, try one of my supper specials, served daily from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. with hot rolls or Johnny cake. We buy the best that is on the market, and invite inspection of our kitchen any time.

Always cool and comfortable. A place you can bring the ladies.

Think it over and drop in. You'll come again.

City Librarian Submits Seventeenth Report

Mrs. H. M. Faulder, who has served as librarian for the past seventeen years, submitted her annual report at the July meeting of the board of trustees as follows:

GENERAL FUND.

Receipts—Balance on hand July 1, 1918, $427.76; received from city, $1,490.76; total $1918.52.

Disbursements—Books and periodicals, $277.31; binding, $56.70; librarian's salary, $900; printing and supplies, $19.16; postage and express, $5.87; repairs in building, $5.85; electric light, $36.76; care of books, $41.95; janitor service, $13.15; street assessments, $30.94; other expenses, $27.16; total, $1444.75; balance on hand June 30, 1919, $473.77.

DESK ACCOUNT.

Balance on hand July 1, 1918, $13.94; membership fees, $43.25; fines, etc., $79.60; total, $136.85.

120 books, $126.57; balance June 30, 1919, $10.28.

ACCESSIONS.

Number of volumes July 1, 1918, 8636; added by purchase, 243; added by gift, 44; added by binding, 50; volumes worn out or destroyed, 80; gain for the year, 257; total number of volumes June 30, 1919, 8913.

MEMBERSHIP.

Number of cardholders July 1, 1918, 1075; registered during year, 226; withdrawn, 209; total membership June 30, 1919, 1092.

CIRCULATION.

Total number of books loaned for home use, 18,908, a decrease of 1900 from the previous year.

On account of the epidemic of influenza, and by order of the city health department, the library was closed to the public from the 14th of October to the 18th of November, the circulation of books being entirely stopped. Again, from December 23 to January 21, the library was closed to readers, the loaning of books for home use only being allowed. These facts account for the decrease of circulation.

Ninety-two periodicals are being received regularly, the library subscribing for 62, the balance being donations.

Eighteen hundred eighty-nine books have been repaired.

One hundred and eight books have been collected, prepared, and sent to the soldiers' camps. (This was the second shipment, making a total of practically one thousand volumes donated to the cause by this community through the public library.)

H. M. FAULDER,
Secretary-Librarian.

REV. DR. S. T. MONTGOMERY WILL SPEAK AT SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE

REV. DR. S. T. MONTGOMERY

Dr. S. T. Montgomery, who will make the address Sunday evening at the union service of the Covina churches, is superintendent of the Anti-Slavery League for Southern California. He attended the great world conference at London, England, and his message will be of great interest. A large number of people are expected Sunday evening.

Children From Slums Happy in Summer Camp

Mrs. C. W. Coman, who has been so largely instrumental in the establishment of the fresh air camp in the San Gabriel canyon for sickly children from the slums of Los Angeles, has received several letters babbling over with gratitude from these little waifs, who for once are provided with ample food and some of the pleasures of a vacation in the mountains.

July 8, 1919,
Azusa, Cal.

Mrs. Coman:

The children's open air camp is a good thing for children. Some of the children do not like it because they do not know what they want. Well, anyways, I like it, because we go on hikes and all that. And besides that comes the cats! Some children don't like it because they are used to their old sour foods which makes them skinny. Some boys want to go home but I don't because it is for your health, and think, I went up two pounds and a half in one week! That's what I call getting fat.

Signed,
OTT ORTEGA.

Dear Miss Coman:

This is a fine place out here and I will be sorry to leave for I don't know of any place where you get all you want to eat, one or two eggs a day, which ever we want. We had bananas for breakfast and expect to have watermelon for dinner. We all sleep in tents, which I love, and it is all free. We have shower baths and the boys are helping to build a plunge which is two feet to six feet deep and the shulowend is going to be the widest.

I am sincerely yours,
CLYDE HUTCHINSON.
Azusa, Cal.,
July 8, 1919.

Dear Mrs. Coman:

I am writing these lines to let you know that I am getting along fine. I was chosen judge this morning and I was getting along as a judge does, so they put the same judges back and then I was made jury and writing names. We are making a plunge in camp. We got all plaster and boards this morning. The other day we saw the ranger gulping on the road and we thought he was coming here to get us. We were swimming and Mr. Otto hollered at us and said "Get out the water," and we hid in the bushes. (They needed the plunge!—Ed.) Joe Fernandez painted the headquarters. Two Covina men came today and they are going to work and make the plunge. Ever since I have been here I have gain four pounds in weight, and I hope you are well.

Yours truly,
LOUIE JONES.

LUXURY IN EARLY TRAVEL

"Safety Barges" Instituted for Those Who Feared Hazard of Voyage on Hudson River.

The frequency with which boilers blew up on the early Hudson river boats led to the use of what were known as "safety barges," and these, in their day, were considered the utmost luxury in travel, comparable to the private cars of the magnates of today. The barges were boats with main and upper decks and were almost as large as the steamers which towed them. The rabble rode on the steamers, inhaled the smells of the kitchen and the freight holds, endured the noise of the engines, and took the chances of explosions, while on the barges behind the elite traveled in luxurious state. Food was brought from the boat kitchen to the barge saloon over a swaying bridge between the vessels and was served with great aplomb under the direction of the barge captain, who was a noble figure in the setting.

The upper decks of the barges were canopied and decked with flowers, with promenades and easy chairs from which to view the scenery. At night the interiors were transformed into sleeping accommodations much the same as a modern Pullman, except that they were more commodious. Not the least attractive feature of these barges, according to a chronicler of their excellence, was "an elegant bar, most sumptuously supplied with all that can be desired by the most fastidious and thirsty."

Recent news dispatches which tell of plans to establish floating cafes on the ocean just outside the three-mile territorial limit when the nation goes dry, indicate that luxurious floating establishments somewhat similar to these "safety barges" may again come into use.

SCIENTIST TELLS OF TRIUMPH

Professor Claims to Have Perfected System for Underground and Submarine Messages.

Speaking recently of his work for the navy, Prof. James R. Rogers, the inventor of a wireless system for underground and submarine transmission, stated: "Six or seven years ago, I began experiments with the transmission of electric impulses by the ground. They were renewed during the war with the audion bulb, which renders the receiving apparatus more sensitive. I first established contact with nearby points and before long received with perfect distinctness impulses sent from Europe. I placed my antennae in trenches radiating from a center and pointing by the compass toward the distant station from which I wished to receive. I demonstrated to the navy department that eight operators may receive at once from eight separate wires. My system was installed at New Orleans, the Great Lakes station, and Belmar, N. Y., and is now used at the principal wireless stations in the United States. I have found the best results with my wires buried six feet below the surface in damp ground. Some of my experiments were conducted in water 25 to 50 feet deep."—Scientific American.

Monkey as Labor Possibility.

The pig-tailed macaque or brok of the Malays is a highly intelligent animal, and the Malays train them to pick coconuts. The modus operandi is described by R. W. C. Shelford in "A Naturalist in Borneo." A cord is fastened round the monkey's waist and it is led to the coconut palm, which it rapidly climbs. It then lays hold of a nut, and if the owner judges the fruit to be ripe for plucking he shouts to the monkey, which then twists the nut round and round till the stalk is broken and lets it fall to the ground. If the monkey catches hold of an unripe fruit the owner tugs the cord and the monkey tries another. I have seen a brok act as a very efficient fruitpicker, although the use of the cord was dispensed with altogether, the monkey being guided by the tones and inflections of his master's voice.

Burgundy at Its Best.

Burgundy wines of 1915 are reported by the most eminent connoisseurs of Paris to be the best since 1865. In fact their verdict is "perfect."

The summer of 1915 was hot, so was the autumn, with light rains now and again at exactly the right intervals. M. Mathieu, celebrated savant on the subject of wines, writes: "Since 1865 there has been no Burgundy like that of 1915 in delicacy or strength. The 1915 vintage is a remarkable synthesis of bouquet, aroma, body and flavor."

But of course all this is of merely academic interest to us.

Less Crime, Fewer Carpets.

There does not at first glance seem to be much connection between crime and carpets, says the London Daily Mail, but it is a fact that the decrease in crime brought about in India, as elsewhere, by the war has led to a decrease in the supply of Indian carpets. The reason is that most of these carpets, especially the finer and more expensive kinds, are made by convicts, notably in the great jail at Poona.

They are made entirely by hand, so it is a case of few convicts few carpets.

Hard to Distinguish.

"In Shakespeare's day the liver was thought to be the seat of love," says the Elizabethans were not so far wrong, after all. The symptoms of love and an acute bilious attack are very similar.

IRWINDALE.

Pre-Nuptial Shower For Miss Gertrude Williams—

Mrs. John Dripps and daughter, Miss Gertrude Williams, went to Monrovia Friday morning, returning early in the afternoon to find their home beautifully decorated with streamers of blue and white crepe paper and bowls of pink and white flowers, and a party of neighbors and friends present. The honoree, Miss Williams, whose marriage to Mr. Oliver Powell of Azusa will occur soon, was surprised and delighted to have Francis and Walter Kranz drawing a gaily decorated express wagon loaded with dainty and useful articles for her new home, stop in front of her. A buffet luncheon of sandwiches, ices, cakes and bon bons was served. The hostesses for this happy pre-nuptial affair were Mrs. N. B. Shaeff, Mrs. L. Johnson and Mrs. C. Kranz. The guests were Miss Williams, Mrs. Dripps, Mrs. Joe Drendel, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Durphy, Mrs. J. A. Taschner, Mrs. D. Von der Lohe, Mrs. Meyerhoffer, and Mrs. O. M. Baughman.

CHANGES WROUGHT BY WAR

Many Things Have Been Brought to Pass That Would Shock Old-time Observers.

Quite a number of things have happened during or in consequence of the war which never happened before. No British king had ever passed under Napoleon's Arc de Triomphe until King George's recent visit to Paris. No British army had before helped to defend France against an invader. British and Prussian troops had never previously tried conclusions. Never before the war had armies from India, America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand or South Africa landed in Europe. Until Mr. Wilson, no "reigning" president of the United States had crossed the Atlantic during his term of office, though ex-presidents have done so.

Jerusalem, Damascus and Bagdad had never before been captured by modern European armies, nor had British soldiers ever previously marched through Mesopotamia. The British flag is the first standard of a Christian nation to float over Constantinople as that of a conqueror since the taking of the city by the Turks over four centuries ago. No king of Prussia had ever lost his throne or been driven into exile before; and no war had ever brought misfortune on so many rulers or led to so many new states being set up.

GOODBY TO FATHER WINTER

No Doubt That Spring Is Here, With All the Joyousness That the Season Should Bring.

The harbingers of spring are numerous, though often obscure. It does not take many warmish days at this time of the year to make the heart of animate nature, including man, to throb with hope. We have been filled with forebodings. All of our mild December we said that the autumn was lingering long this year. In equally mild January we prognosticated that we would "get it" in February. We are still a little fearful that old Father Winter may have some ice and snow for us in his storehouse and so we try not to be too forward looking.

But a complete plan of the garden drawn to a scale, with every radish and bean and cabbage located is not rushing the season, and it is a mighty pleasant thing to make out these days. Stewart Edward White says he always gets out his book of files in February, furishes up the old ones and replaces the missing favorites, and dreams, the while, of pools and rapids. The housekeeper sighs at the sight of grimy wall paper and then hopefully begins to houseclean the spare room. A few hopeful robins came back this week, as well as some blackbirds. They say the skunk cabbages are blooming along Big Darby's rocky shore. Spring is on the way!—Ohio State Journal.

Healthy Men Defied "Flu."

An observant hospital corps man of the navy became so thoroughly convinced that lowered resistance was always the determining factor in contracting influenza that he and some of his mates volunteered to test the truth of his theory. The offer was accepted and 100 enlisted men who volunteered were submitted to exhaustive experiments by naval surgeons, the outcome of which seems to confirm the theory. These men were all in the best of physical condition, and during the experiment their health was looked after carefully. Live cultures of influenza bacilli were sprayed in their throats and noses hourly. The germs were introduced into their food. They were kept in close contact with patients suffering from the disease. Some members of the group received various preventive inoculations, but others were not thus protected. Not a single case of influenza was developed.

"Great Tom" Not in Abbey.

Westminster abbey bells, which are now being overhauled against the celebration of peace, do not, as many people think, include the famous bell "Great Tom of Westminster," which was formerly rung on all important occasions.

Great Tom hung for centuries in the clock tower of the royal palace of Westminster, but when in 1715 the tower was no longer strong enough to stand the vibration and was taken down the bell was sent to St. Paul's cathedral instead of being taken to the abbey.

Great Tom's duties are now confined to striking the hours and tolling for royal and important deaths and burials.

Merely Wanted to Know.

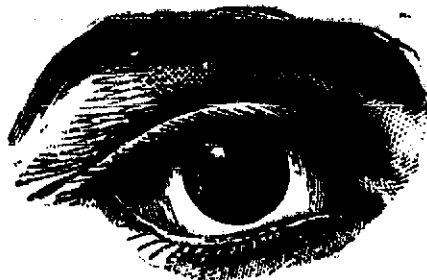

Alvin comes to see me daily. On each visit I usually give him something, candy or whatever I have. Hoping to have an exceptionally good box of sweets I gave him a piece, whereupon he returned the second time that day and inquired: "Have you got any more of that good candy?" Reproving him for asking for it he replied, "I didn't ask to get me any; I just want to know if you got any more."—Chicago Tribune.

Contradictory Emotions.

"Something I can't understand," mused Senator Borah, "is the way contradictory emotions simultaneously develop."

"Referring to What?"

"Every time I begin to talk about universal peace some suggestion occurs that warms up my fighting blood."

Beware the Swindlers.

Many causes contribute to multiply the swindling activities of the get-rich-quick gentry who prey upon savings of credulous investors. During the war millions of our people received their first education in the possibilities of the savings habit and gained an elementary knowledge of investments. Patriotism was their inspiring motive. The needs of the government were almost illimitable. Bond issue followed bond issue, calling for sums before unprecedented in the history of finance. Only as the great body of the people economized in their expenditures, saved a part of their earnings and placed their savings at the disposal of the government could our country carry on the war.

So grew up a new national habit of thrift as expressed in the avoidance of unnecessary expenditures on the one hand and the investment on the other of the funds thus accumulated. Never in our history or in the history of any other government was so large a number of new investors created by the stress of circumstances. To that huge class the get-rich-quick swindlers are addressing their artful literature, and it to the men and women of that class the Argus addresses its warnings.

We are now entering upon a period that bids fair to be intensely speculative. Extraordinary expansion and widely diffused prosperity are among the factors contributing to that condition. In such times the swindlers, confidence men and get-rich-quick fraternity in general perceive their opportunity to reap a rich harvest and in California they are aided by the very fact that great natural resources are in process of legitimate development on a huge scale.

Investors must learn to discriminate between investment and speculation. If tempted to speculate, they must learn to discriminate between legitimate, honestly conducted enterprises in which they will at least be given "a run for their money," and the fly-by-night propositions that in their very essence are nothing but stock selling swindles.

Money that is earned with difficulty and saved with self-denial should not be hazarded lightly, but through safe investment be made the sound nucleus of secure provision for the future. Don't let the get-rich-quick swindlers get rich quick at your cost.

E. H. PHILLEO ELECTED ASSISTANT CASHIER OF BANK

At a recent meeting of the directors of the First National bank of Azusa, E. H. Philleo was elected as assistant cashier. Mr. Philleo has been at the teller's window at the bank since being discharged from the army, and the directors felt that on account of his popularity with the customers and his experience in the banking business, it would strengthen the institution to make him an officer of the bank.

Mr. Philleo is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Philleo of Orange avenue and since his graduation from the Covina high school and completion of a business college course has been employed in the Azusa bank.

PLENTY OF COALE, SAYES COMMISSIONER RYAN

Reports for the first week in July seem to indicate that the scale will be much more plentiful in the sections east of Los Angeles, particularly, than last year, writes Horticultural Commissioner H. J. Ryan. A fairly uniform hatch seem to be obtaining in districts which in the past year have had considerable off-hatch. Pomona district reports some off-hatch.

Intensive orchard inspection began about July 1, but the early reports indicate that within a considerable majority of cases, the groves which were fumigated last year should be fumigated again this year. Undoubtedly more fumigation will be done this year than ever before.

COVINA GIRL MARRIED IN SANTA BARBARA

On Thursday at Santa Barbara occurred the marriage of Miss June Sides and Mr. Gordon Evans of Los Angeles.

The bride is a graduate of the Covina high school class of 1916 and of the Brownshur business college of Los Angeles. For the past year she has held the position of billing clerk in the auditing and supply department of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, Los Angeles.

Mr. Evans is the son of C. H. Evans of the C. H. Evans Interior Decorating Company of Los Angeles, and is a graduate of the Manual Arts high school and of the Brownshur business college. He holds a position with the Fruit Growers' Exchange. After honeymooning at Hotel Belvedere they will be at home at 1664 Western avenue, Los Angeles.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sides of Italia street.

Dr. C. W. Searcy was confined to his home Tuesday and Wednesday by illness.

Miss Dorothy Trench of Los Angeles is spending ten days or two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Evans.

Mrs. E. R. Coolman has sufficiently recovered from her recent operation to be up and around again.

THE MAN

who spends all his money as fast as he earns it can never hope to rise above the working or salary class and have a business of his own.

But the one who has the courage and self-denial to regularly lay aside part of his earnings will soon have a few hundred dollars capital with which to take advantage of business opportunities as they arise.

We offer every facility and extend every courtesy for your banking business.

Miscellaneous Shower For August Bride—

Mrs. Peter Feddersohn, Jr., entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in Puente with a miscellaneous shower and lawn party in honor of Miss Hilda Cashley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cashley of this city, whose marriage to Mr. Frank McQuire will occur about the middle of August. The afternoon was very informal, and the guest of honor was presented with many dainty and useful household pieces. Yellow was the color scheme, carried out with flowers in the living rooms, and in the dainty refreshments. There were fifteen guests, the out-of-town ones being an aunt of the hostess, Mrs. A. E. Woodward, who is spending the summer here from Florida, Mrs. G. B. Clarke and Miss Grace Clarke of Los Angeles.

Los Angeles Girl Married at Home of Sister in Covina—

A wedding of unusual interest occurred Thursday at half past three, when Miss Gertrude Pollard was united in marriage to Gideon Richie Wolfe in the beautiful home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Griffiths, on East Badillo street, Covina.

Miss Ellean Griffiths, a niece of the bride, with Mr. Walter E. Wolfe, a brother of the groom, led the bridal party, followed by Miss Lucile L. Eakle and Rudolph C. Earle. The bride, on the arm of her brother, Richard A. Pollard, was met by the groom as the bridal party took its place in an artistically arranged bower. Simplicity marked the impressive double ring ceremony, which was read by R. W. Cleland, D.D., an old-time friend of the family. Immediately upon the conclusion of the ceremony Mrs. Robert R. Frank, accompanied by Mrs. F. S. Testera of Los Angeles, sang, "Call Me Thine Own."

The popular bride is the daughter of the late Lewis Childs Pollard, a well known pioneer of this valley who owned a large tract of land including the property now comprising the Griffiths orange ranch. Miss Pollard, on her mother's side, is a direct descendant of Sir Joseph Williamson, an intimate of Miles Standish. An aunt, the late Mrs. Antonio F. Coronel, presented to the city of Los Angeles a rare and valuable collection of mission, Mexican and Spanish curios, which are on exhibition at Exposition park.

Mr. Wolfe is a well known electrician of Los Angeles, where he and his bride will make their home upon their return from an extended honeymoon.

Mrs. Martha Webb and two children, John and Jim, have returned from a week's outing at Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr and family, who for some months have been making their home in Taft, have returned to Covina to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Whitsel entertained at dinner Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Miller and daughter and two sons of West La Fayette, Indiana, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Lofland and daughter and Miss Bernice Bailey of Whittier.

Mrs. J. P. Wagoner entertained at dinner Sunday in celebration of her birthday Mrs. J. R. Clayton and family, J. L. Wagoner and James Morlock of Brawley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamilton and family of Puente were guests one evening this week of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wagoner of Workman street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Ginkel and little daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ramsauer spent last Sunday at Balboa.

James L. Wagoner and James Morlock of Brawley are spending the week with the former's brother, J. P. Wagoner of Workman street.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Budd and family are spending the week at Redondo.

Mrs. S. E. Coons and daughter, Miss Gladys, spent Thursday in Los Angeles with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Seeley have returned from a short stay in their cottage at Laguna.

Miss Eulalia Bainbridge entertained Thursday evening at her home on East Badillo street with an informal dancing party.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Chapman and little son are spending a month at Long Beach.

Nancy Milliken, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Milliken of East Badillo street, is improving nicely from a recent illness.

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Wood of Lark Ellen ranch are spending the week at Long Beach.

The death occurred June 29th of Mrs. E. A. Winchester at her home in Sacramento. Mrs. Winchester was the mother-in-law of Mrs. Nora Fisher, and grandmother of Will, Newton and Elbert and Miss Ethel Fisher and Mrs. Everett Blanchard, and formerly lived in Covina.

IN THE ARGUS

PORTRAYAL BY ELSIE FERGUSON IN "UNDER THE GREENWOOD TREE"

ELSIE FERGUSON in "Under the Greenwood Tree"

Mary Hamilton, young, beautiful, mistress of several millions of pounds, and one of the most charming members of London society, disappeared mysteriously a few days ago. It was at first believed that she may have been abducted, but according to the statement of Sir Kenneth Graham, a suitor for Miss Hamilton's hand, the missing young woman is living the life of a gypsy in the New Forest.

This was the tenor of the item which were published in the big London newspapers at the time Miss Hamilton disappeared. No further particulars regarding the young woman could be obtained, but it was whispered that she was disgusted with society and had made up her mind to live the simple life. What happened is revealed in the new Arcraft play, "Under the Greenwood Tree," starring Elsie Ferguson, which will be shown at the Star theater tonight and tomorrow.

Covina Orange Growers Touring in Oregon

The Argus is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Aschenbrenner, orange growers of Cypress avenue, who left the last week in June on an auto trip through Oregon and Washington:

Salem, Oregon,
July 3, 1919.

We arrived in Salem, Oregon, last Saturday evening at 6:30 p.m., and no one was expecting us for several days later. Just six days for the trip.

We had a wonderful trip and came over some horribly bumpy roads. Over the Sierritas the roads were fine, but this side of Redding, we had some very rough roads, and in one place while making a detour came to a very rough place where we had to pass another car. We got almost past, and both cars being on a sidling place made the tops lean together and we were stuck and could not pass. As the car came along, side our car I recognized the driver and it was a Mr. Mayers I had known always. He knew me right away and remembered Sam when I introduced him. His wife had gotten out and walked on bore I recognized him, so I did not see her. By putting our top down we were able to get past.

We met many Oregon and Washington cars, but saw very few California cars.

After leaving Albany, Oregon, we met two cars in a horribly dusty place and both parties motioned for us to go back and I could not understand it at first, but when we got alongside they hollered, "Go back, go back," and I found they were both California cars, and one was from Whittier, and we knew why they were telling us to go back, for the dust was fierce.

Around Salem the roads are not dusty but are very bumpy.

Salem is a beautiful residence city and has improved wonderfully in the thirteen years since we left here. The streets are very wide, and the well-kept lawns, hedges of pink Testout roses, and beds of tall foxglove and blue harkspur make a perfect picture.

Have not yet called on Governor O'cott, but intend to do so soon, because I have known him since I was quite a little girl.

I find folks have not forgotten me and I see a great many familiar faces when I go down the street.

We hope to make a visit to Wilhoit Springs and visit old friends in that vicinity.

My folks still own a ranch of a hundred and sixty acres, mostly timber land, just two miles and a half from Wilhoit Springs, and we are going to spend a day or two up there.

We are having all the cherries we can eat and they do taste good when you can get them right off the tree! Yesterday we had dinner with Mrs. George Aschenbrenner's mother and sister, and had a very enjoyable visit.

My father is here with my sister and her husband, but he is helpless and has to sit in a chair all day long. We take him out most every evening in the auto and he gets to see old friends and familiar places, and enjoys it very much.

There is to be a celebration of Independence Day and the soldiers' homecoming and all combined beginning to-day, so we will no doubt see most every one we know and have a big time celebrating tomorrow.

We were so glad to know that the road bonds had carried, for you surely do appreciate Southern California roads when you get on some of these rough ones. We came all that way on forty-three gallons of gasoline and did not have to do a thing to the car. It could not have worked better.

Sincerely,
MRS. BESSIE M. ASCHENBRENNER

ASSAULT CAUSES AGONY VALUED AT $700

In the superior court of Judge Wellborn on Monday of this week, Elmer O. Thomson of Cypress avenue was awarded, $700 damages from Edward O. Speer of Glendora, as the result of an assault made upon him some months ago.

Thomson sued for $3500 damages. The trial resulted in allowing $200 for the two cracked teeth, four blows at $5 each, other damages assessed at $300, making a total of $700.

Mr. Thomson and Mr. Speer are both ranchers in the Covina valley.

CHARTER OAK.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woodworth are entertaining a sister-in-law of the former, Mrs. H. C. Woodworth, and her three children of Newton, Kansas. The Woodworths and their guests have made several trips to Los Angeles, the beaches and the mountain resorts with their guests.

Mrs. Walter Hughes and her sister, Miss Adeline Wesseller spent last week at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bristow received word of the arrival of their son Vincent, at Newport News, West Virginia, on Saturday. Bristow will return home as soon as he has received his discharge.

BETTER THAN ANY MEDIUMS

Mince Pie That Brought Vision of Home Caused Wounded Soldier to Long for Life.

Pie is not among the articles treated of in works on materia medica, but a recent incident shows that it may have therapeutic value. In a hospital lay an American sailor, for whom everything had been done by surgeons, doctors and nurses, and yet something was lacking. He was homesick; his mind was ever away in a little Atlantic coast town. One day, in the midst of his bodily pain and soul-suffering, there flashed upon him the object of his quest, and he murmured excitedly: "Oh, if I could only have a piece of mince pie." It was not that he wanted to eat a piece of pie, for he was too ill for that. His hunger was for what the pie represented. An American nurse who heeded the wish managed, with some difficulty, to find all the ingredients for a real New England pie. When she took it to him she put with it a bit of cheese, also hard to procure in these times, so that nothing would be lacking, and in the cheese she planted a miniature Stars and Stripes. The poor boy could eat neither the pie nor the cheese, but they contributed just the home touch needed to improve his condition. When the wife of the American consul general visited him later she remarked upon the improvement in his condition, and he said: "Two days ago I was in such misery that I could have welcomed death. Now I feel that America is not so far away as I thought and that I have got to hang on."

GENERAL BELIEF IN HONESTY

Something Very Like the Millennium Seems to Be Near in Great British Metropolis.

How is the sudden trust Londoners have come to exhibit for each other to be accounted for? There is an extreme shortage of copper coins for small change in London, and one man says of his experiences: "On several occasions lately I have vendors who have been unable to change silver have said to me, 'Never mind, pay me the next time you are this way.' Only one of them knew me as a regular customer. Even more unexpected credit than this was offered me at a railway booking office where I tendered a shilling for a two-penny fare. 'I'm short of coppers,' said the girl booking clerk. 'Pay me tomorrow.' 'But I shall not be here tomorrow,' I replied. 'Then pay me the next time you are here, whenever it is,' she said. 'But supposing I forget,' I expostulated. 'Oh, I know that you will come and pay me some day,' she answered. 'I've never known people fail.' Shall my testimony be offered by others, who tell of copper credit thrust upon them by strangers, and often very poor and humble strangers.—London Mail.

Clearing Up After War.

On the banks of the Thames, less than twenty miles from London, there is an American town of the mushroom kind such as you might find in a new California oil field. Its population consists of more than 200 white men and about 150 negroes. It covers twenty-five acres which nine months ago were fallow grass land. The business of the town is to receive, sort and store war material. There is a street of wooden huts, another of corrugated iron huts, huge iron store sheds a quarter of a mile long, office buildings, water supply and electric lights, the whole surrounded by a hedge, a few armed sentries and much mud. All day long the khaki-clad negroes push and haul railway trucks full of war material. War material coming back from Russia is being stored at this camp, also the fittings of the disarmed hospitals which the American army established in England.

Warmth Increases Oil Flow.

An electrical method of carrying warmth to the bottom of oil wells has been found in many cases greatly to increase the flow of oil. The heating process, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, decreases the viscosity of the oil, usually occasioned by the admission of air to the well and the cooling of the rock bed. Minute crevices and capillary channels which afford easy passage to warm, thin oil become quite impassable if the oil gums. The electric heating method not only thins the oil but often generates gas whose pressure helps the oil to the surface. The system found military use in the abandoned oil fields of Roumania and Galicia.

What's in a Name?

Most readers are familiar with the story of the German bank in a United States city which, finding its name unpopular, changed it to the "Sherman bank." Here is another example on the same lines: A popular New York city German restaurant was called the Kloster Glocke (Cloister Bell), and its front was decorated with a large bell as a sign. The name has been changed to the "Liberty Bell," and the bell of the old monastery now does duty as a replica of the one which rang out independence to the colonies.

Doubts Mechanical Skill.

A "prominent business man" has offered $50,000 for the privilege of being carried as mechanic on the first transatlantic flight made in an airplane. If this offer is accepted, it is to be hoped that his mechanical ability equals his enthusiasm.—Springfield Republican.

MR. ORANGE GROWER—

Dear Sir:

Do not be either fooled or deceived by specious statements regarding UNIT DOSE of LIQUID HYDROCYANIC ACID (Hydro-Cy); but DEPEND UPON A UNIT DOSE OF 18 C. C. for HIGHEST EFFICIENCY IN SCALE KILLING; and apply it with HYDRO-CY APPLICATOR and by HYDRO-CY METHODS.

I have proven that a UNIT DOSE of 18 C. C. is the maximum amount required. This fact has also been proven by EXPERIENCED MEN CONNECTED WITH THE U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY. As compared with the higher unit dose recommended from elsewhere, the cost to the grower for the Hydrocyanic Acid, which I estimate will be used this year, will show a net saving of over $100,000.00 on the 18 C. C. UNIT DOSE. WHY WASTE MONEY?

Yours truly,

What a Tractor Should Be

- 1st. A machine that is a proven fact—not one that is designed, built and sold to the farmer as an experiment.
- 2nd. It should have a motor with a bearing area capable of the stress that a tractor motor is subject to, as well as its differential, clutch and transmission, and not one that is designed for a pleasure car.
- 3rd. All working parts must be protected from dust and sand, which is the ruin of any machinery exposed to it.

The Fordson Tractor

embodies these principles and features.

CITRUS GROWERS BUY GREAT TRACT OF TIMBER FOR BOX MATERIAL

NEARLY THREE MILLION DOLLARS AUTHORIZED BY ASSOCIATION STOCKHOLDERS TO BUY LAND AND EQUIP SAWMILLS—TOGETHER WITH PROPERTY ALREADY OWNED IT WILL SUPPLY NEEDS OF GROWERS AMOUNTING TO FIFTEEN MILLION BOXES ANNUALLY—INVESTIGATION SHOWS THAT COUNTRY'S MOST VALUABLE TIMBER LAND IS OWNED BY A FEW—PLANT WILL BE READY EARLY IN 1921.

Citrus growers in California have decided to spend $2,800,000 through the purchase of 41,414 acres of land in Lassen county, covered with pine and fir trees, and the erection thereon of a modern lumbering plant and box factory. The trees are to furnish material for the making each year of 20,000,000 orange and lemon boxes.

Authorizations for this expenditure were made during the last few days by packing association stockholders and directors in every citrus-growing locality, and the land will be purchased and great sawmills erected and equipped by the Fruit Growers' Supply Company, which is a subsidiary corporation to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

Since 1910, the citrus growers of California have been operating a saw mill and box factory, cutting the timber from a tract of land known as the Hilt property, near the California and Oregon line, which has produced 2,500,000 boxes annually. The remainder of the box material required has been secured from commercial concerns. It is claimed by F. B. Hutchens, manager of the Fruit Growers' Supply company, that the ranchers can produce through the cooperative method a box that will cost but fifteen cents, representing an annual saving of $450,000 to the growers as a result of the contemplated purchase. In California the present market price is 21 cents per box, while in Florida it is now 30 cents.

The new property acquired contains 489,968,000 feet of pine timber, 283,692,000 white fir timber and other species, or a total of 973,309,000 feet of box shuck material. The option price acquired by the board of directors of the Supply Company was $1,181,000, or an average cost of $1.25 per thousand feet for the timber. An operating plant of a capacity of 100 million feet of lumber annually is to be constructed at once at an estimated cost of $1,600,000, making a total expenditure of $2,800,000.

METHOD OF FINANCE.

In order to provide the money for this purchase and the operation of the property, the capital stock of the supply company will be increased from $1,500,000 to $4,000,000, to be paid for through stock subscriptions taken by the members of the affiliated associations of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. They have agreed to pay two cents per box annually on their fruit shipments toward the new capital, and two cents per box additional into the revolving fund for redistribution among the stockholders.

In a statement made by Manager Hutchens, the plant is promised for capacity operation by the middle of 1921. Money for immediate purchase and for the establishment of the plant has been arranged for with Los Angeles banks, and is to be secured by the Hilt property, the new property and the physical valuation owned by the ranchers in the Fruit Growers' Supply Company. Mr. Hutchens believes that it is reasonable to anticipate a saving to the ranchers through this purchase which will approximate the increase in capital stock, besides assuring a steady supply of box material.

A study of the Pacific northwest timber ownership by the government a few years ago disclosed the fact that 49 per cent of the timber of southwestern Washington was controlled by two owners; 36 per cent of western Oregon by five owners; 70 per cent of northeastern California by six owners; 59 per cent of central Idaho by four owners. The redwood supply is half owned by ten owners. Fifty per cent of the pine timber in California outside of that which is in the national forest reserves is owned by one interest, and a greater portion of the other half is owned by a few large lumber operators.

SUPPLY DECREASING.

It is thought by the management that it will prove to be a wise move to own an available supply of timber for the use of the growers, as there is soon to be a great demand which will come from the middle-west and south, as the timber in those regions is rapidly becoming exhausted. With the California Fruit Growers' Exchange shipping fifteen million boxes of fruit annually, and soon to ship twenty million boxes, the raise in price of one cent per manufactured box by commercial concerns supplying the growers would mean an additional expense of $200,000. Such a raise is to be confidently expected from the commercial concerns, due to increased demand for the grades of lumber used in box shuck.

Assistant District Forester T. D. Woodbury, in the employ of the United States government, has made a report that there are 174,420 acres of government property contiguous to the tract to be purchased by the supply company, sixty per cent of which has merchantable timber on it. This report shows that there will be opportunity for the ranchers to get an additional supply in the years to come if it is needed, through purchase from the government.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange is the selling organization for seventy per cent of the orange and lemon production of California, serving 10,000 growers. The Exchange and its subsidiary company that furnishes supplies are both non-profit organizations, and are operated solely in the interest of the ranchers who are members at actual cost. The organizations are maintained through assessments placed upon each box of fruit handled.

The purchase of this large tract of timber land by the Fruit Growers' Supply Company is generally regarded as a wise and timely action, as it insures and safeguards the future shuck requirements of Exchange growers for many years.

OHAVERS RETURN FROM VACATION AT BIG BEAR

After spending a most delightful two weeks' at Lunde's camp on Bear lake, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ohaver and guest, Miss Bertha McKay, returned Wednesday evening.

They report Camp Lunde one of the most popular places for Covina people this year, as many of our people are camped within a small area. Among these are Mrs. J. P. Overholzer and children, Whitecomb, Enid and Kenneth; Mrs. Frank Bisbee and daughters, Fleeta and Eva, and son David; Mrs. Werden and small son and Miss Leila Womack; Mr. and Mrs. Matt DeLano and daughter, Virgie; the Misses Fern and Grace McCarty; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Spencer and daughter, Mrs. A. Daly and two grandsons, Gilbert and Marion, Jr., Coltrin; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Willoughby and son, Cyril, and Leslie Olmstead; Mr. and Mrs. George Aschenbrenner and children, Iris and George, Jr.

Two of the busiest men in camp are Messrs. Lunde and Ladd, who are kept busy from early morning until late at night providing boats and bait for the many fishermen who wish to try their luck. Fishing has been good the greater part of the time. Mr. Ohaver had fine luck, one day catching the limit.

One of the most popular places in camp is the well at Lunde's, where people can get a drink of ice cold pure water at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohaver entertained H. D. Blanchard, Leroy Blanchard and Miss Irene Bouldin of Azusa over the week-end.

PONY RIDING DELIGHTS CHILDREN AT PARTY

A saddled pony was the chief delight at the party given by Mrs. Phillip L. Thurber Saturday afternoon at her home on Second street in celebration of the third birthday of her little son, Pomeroy. The pergola and porch were prettily decorated, where the little tots played less strenuous games and were served with birthday cake and other goodies. Franklyn Jones and Jane Taylor were given prizes for pinning an American flag on the star of a service flag. The little guests were Harriett and Jane Taylor, Franklyn Jones, Ruth Webb, Elliott Viney, and Louise Johnson.

The print shop of the Covina Argus is a benefit to the town because it brings outside work here. The money is placed in Covina.

DAY HONORED BY WELSHMEN

March the First Known the World Over as Anniversary of the Country's Patron Saint.

The first day of March has long been observed as a special day by the people of Wales and is called St. David's day in honor of the good St. David, patron saint of the Welsh, who lived in the sixth century.

St. David was said to have been the son of a prince of Cardiganshire, Wales, and is accredited with the working of many miracles, especially among the poor of the country. It was said that when the saint first went into the fields to preach to his followers the ground on which he was standing began to rise until it assumed a goodly height, and henceforth was his pulpit.

For hundreds of years the Welsh wore sprigs of leek—a plant with broad bluish-green leaves and yellow flower clusters—in their hats as a symbol of recognition of the day. This custom was brought about, some say, from the fact that in a battle of the Welsh against their old enemies, the Saxons, St. David had ordered all Welshmen to go into battle wearing their native leek, not only to distinguish them from their enemies, but to bring them good luck.

Other writers argue that the badge was worn more as a fraternal sign and because leek was grown in every Welsh garden and was the favorite vegetable of a true Welshman.

Writers of the last century depict a typical Welsh garden as a garden of onions, garlic and leek. Homely incidents are told of Welshmen assisting each other in farming and eating their leeks together, a ceremony symbolic of hospitality and good fellowship.

NOT ALWAYS PROPERLY SANE

Scientists Assert Few People Have at All Times Full Command of Their Mental Faculties.

Many people think that the expression "temporary insanity" is merely used by a jury wishing to save relatives pain, but numbers of doctors who have made a study of mental disorders emphatically declare it is no idle term.

One doctor has stated that temporary insanity is a condition of double consciousness, not dissimilar to epilepsy. A person normally quite sane may have attacks of temporary aberration lasting little more than a few minutes, especially after long bouts of hard, continuous mental work, being particularly liable if insomnia supervenes.

Crimes have been committed in the early morning when the perpetrator has not really been properly awake, and has been horrified to find what he has done. This is a true case of temporary insanity, but it is comparatively rare, and a man in normal health would not suffer in this way.

A specialist in mental diseases has stated that he knew a case in which a person was insane during a certain time of each day, and that others have been known when the patient was quite normal at ordinary times, but suffered from a temporary fit of mania regularly once a month.

Forming Artificial Pearls.

Pearls were valuable as gems in China as early as twenty-two centuries before our era, and the Chinese had worked out a plan for the artificial formation of pearls about 700 years ago, which they have carried on extensively. Large numbers of oysters are collected and the shell gently opened to allow the introduction of various foreign substances which are inserted by means of a forked bamboo stick. These pellets are generally made of prepared mud, but may be bone, brass or wood. The oysters are then placed in shallow ponds connected with canals and are nourished by tubs of night soil thrown in from time to time.

Some time later, from several months to two years, depending upon the size of the gem desired, these oysters are taken out of the shell, the pearls removed and the body of the animal eaten as food. Millions of such pearls are sold annually in China. The most valuable are either round or pear shaped.

Few Old People in New Guinea.

The average duration of life is shorter in New Guinea than in any other country, owing to the peculiar diet of the natives, who devour with gusto the larvae of beetles, dug out of decayed tree trunks, and habitually drink seawater when near the coast. "The people die off at about forty," A. E. Pratt says in his "Two Years Among the Cannibals of New Guinea." "We saw one very old man, who may have been about sixty years of age—the only example of longevity that we came across. He was bent almost double, and had a long, white beard. His fellow tribesmen regarded him as a great curiosity, and brought him to see us. Despite the decrepitude of his body, however, there was no trace of senility; his senses were unimpaired, and the poor old creature showed great gratitude for a gift of tobacco."

Hence the Congestion. "You have plenty of room in America," said the foreign visitor. "Oh, yes."

"Then why do you build so many skyscrapers?" "I guess that's because the average American thinks he can't transact business unless he's within walking distance of the post office."—Blindling Hum Age-Herald.

DOUGLAS BROTHERS MEET IN WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

Captain Howard Douglas and First Lieutenant Gordon C. Douglas, sons of Summerfield Douglas of the Covina Realty Company, have been in Washington, D. C., during the past week. They both returned from service two weeks ago.

Howard wrote his father that he went into the visitors' gallery of the house of representatives and discovered that his brother Gordon was seated directly in front of him. This was the second surprise meeting of the brothers, as they ran into each other in a hotel lobby in Paris just before sailing for the United States.

The brothers are expected to arrive in Covina within the next two weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Traweck and daughters, Misses Kathleen and Marjory, and Mrs. C. H. Traweck and two children, with a party of relatives from Pasadena, picnicked in Brookside park, Pasadena, Wednesday.

Mrs. Hazel McCreary and Miss Beatrice Havlin spent last weekend at Long Beach, the guests of Mrs. C. H. Havlin.

Mrs. M. Havlin attended a theatre and spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will Havlin in Los Angeles.

HELP THE ARGUS CORRECT THIS LIST OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

The list of soldiers and sailors who entered active service from this valley as published below needs still further revision, and every reader who has definite knowledge that will assist in this is asked to impart it to the Argus.

This is important, as the Argus is compiling a history of all war activities of this valley, which will soon be off the press, and it is desirable that this souvenir shall be as free of omissions as possible.

Only the names of men who enlisted in any department of the service from this valley or who made this valley their bona fide residence at time of enlistment are desired.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nash returned Saturday from an outing at Bear lake. They made a leisurely trip to the lake by way of the Crest route, stopping a short time at Little Bear lake, Strawberry Flats and other camps along the way, returning by way of Victorville. While there they stopped at Knight's camp and visited a number of Covina parties who are summering there.

Ira Oberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Godfrey, who was kicked by a horse he had been working on Tuesday, is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Larkin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stark in Los Angeles.

Argus Liners Do the Work

This a fact. They do more work, sell more goods and are of more benefit to their users than any other agency, considering their cost.

Every week people voluntarily testify to the really wonderful quick results they get from these liners.

Right along people dispose of all kinds of articles, from building lots and lands, down to small household articles. They are especially effective in selling horses, cows, and poultry.

Have you a farm implement or household article which you no longer need? Try an Argus liner. The cost will be in the neighborhood of 25c and the balance of the money you get from the sale will be like finding money. Phone it in.
